stanleypickergallery:

7.9 Cubic Metres

Voids, Corners, Plentifolds

The Turning

Matthew MacKisack

May 27 - June 17 2009

Private View: Wednesday 27th May 6:30 - 8:30pm

7.9 Cubic Metres, an artist-initiated project by James Carrigan, hosted by the Stanley Picker Gallery and curated by Eliza Tan, invites you to the second installment of a series of 12 exhibitions exploring the notion of the gallery.

Matthew MacKisack's work examines the ideological and subjective conditions under which the meaning and experience of objects or situations arise from the productive imagination. MacKisack's presentations take the form of various media. He combines field recordings with sculptural or symbolic objects, video installations and performative writing. His piece for 7.9 Cubic Metres, The Turning (2008), investigates the 'sacrimental nature' of the white cube in relation to cinematic and religious experience.

Visit www.stanleypickergallery.org for venue map and directions

open
Fri 12 - 6
Sat 12 - 4
Mon - Thurs by appointment (0) 20 8417 4074

Stanley Picker Gallery, Kingston University,
Knights Park, Kingston Upon Thames, KT1 2QJ
www.7point9cubicmetres.com e.tan@kingston.ac.uk

SAINT-GOBAIN GLASS

Kingston University London